

CERNO

The LAB Case Club

Driven to Discern

“Cerno” is Latin, meaning “determine”, “discern” or “perceive”. It aims to reflect the can-do spirit of problem-solvers, who are preparing for life after graduation – to take on the high-stake hurdles of the business world.

We are a driven group of LAB students, many who have recently competed in internationally recognised case competitions, like NCC in Norway, and NIBS in China. This club will supplement any student interested in such experiences.

Our aim is to develop and practice case-solving. By tackling business problems, like consultants do, we strive to develop the knowledge and skills that are applied in business settings. This club will be extracurricular, with a focus on collaboration and professionalism.

We are looking for like-minded students to join! If you are always punctual, academically driven, and a dedicated team player, we would love to have you on board!

Business or student, bring your inquiries directly to us!
